

The Myth and Mystery of UFOs

Thomas E. Bullard

"A wide-ranging and wonderfully informed look at an elusive and difficult subject. Bullard, a folklorist, does a remarkable job of analyzing the UFO-and-abduction phenomenon's similarities with ancient myths and legends."—David M. Jacobs, editor of UFOs and Abductions: Challenging the Borders of Knowledge

456 pages, 24 photographs, Cloth $34.95

Cinematic Cold War

The American and Soviet Struggle for Hearts and Minds

Tony Shaw and Denise J. Youngblood

"Breaks important new ground on the history and representation of the cultural cold war. Keen analysis, striking illustrations, and illuminating pairings of Soviet and American films are among the strengths of this book. Highly recommended."—Walter L. Hixson, author of Parting the Curtain: Propaganda, Culture, and the Cold War

312 pages, 52 photos, Cloth $34.95

Singin' in the Rain

The Making of an American Masterpiece

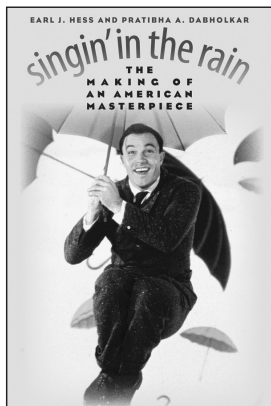

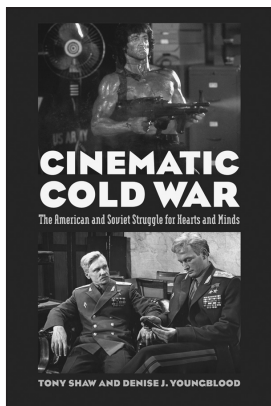

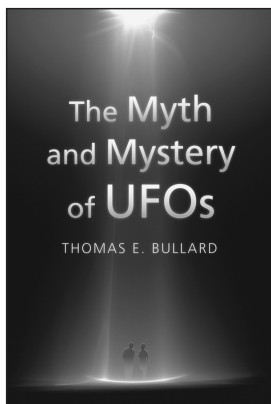

Earl J. Hess and Pratibha A. Dabholkar

"A great movie deserves a great book, and that's what readers get in this meticulous, behind-the-scenes look at the movie the American Film Institute calls the 'Greatest Movie Musical of All Time.'"—Booklist

"Even the most die-hard Singin' fan is likely to find new facts in this tribute to a film that is truly a work of art."

—New York Post

346 pages, 16 photographs, Paper $19.95

Wanted Women

An American Obsession in the Reign of J. Edgar Hoover

Mary Elizabeth Strunk

"A defining work on the history of women, crime, and violence in the United States from the New Deal through the end of the Cold War years. In original scholarship that is also a terrific read, Strunk traces gun molls, revolutionaries, and other 'bad' women from the streets to the state to the screen. Her keen eye for a cultural history that is also a political story makes this book a welcome addition to a field that has received too little attention."—Claire Bond Potter, author of War on Crime: Bandits, G-Men, and the Politics of Mass Culture

"A rich and entertaining account that is sure to find a wide audience."—William Graebner, author of Patty's Got a Gun: Patricia Hearst in 1970s America

304 pages, 27 illustrations, Cloth $29.95

Are We There Yet?

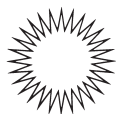

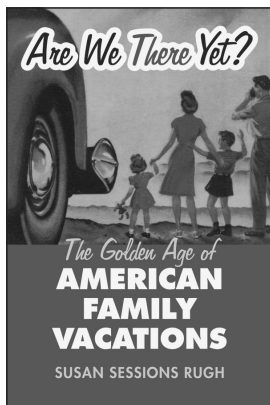

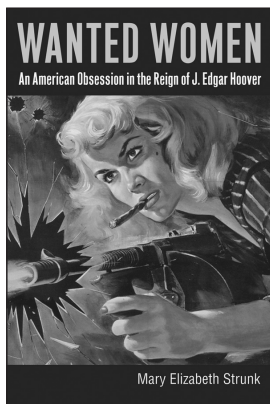

The Golden Age of American Family Vacations

Susan Sessions Rugh

"Rugh treats this period of post-World War II innocence—or Cold War escapism—with a healthy revisionism minus any smudge of sepia sentimentality. . . . Smart and sensitive, well researched and no-nonsense, her ride is well worth taking."—The Atlantic

"A valuable addition to the study of 20th-century popular culture and history."—Library Journal

252 pages, 35 photos, Paper $17.95
