Auslegung: A Journal of Philosophy

Auslegung is published by the Graduate Association of Students in Philosophy at the University of Kansas. Papers are reviewed by faculty from universities in the U.S. and Canada. The journal is a forum for the expression of any and all philosophical perspectives.

Guidelines for Paper Submission

1. Auslegung subscribes to a blind review policy. Authors must therefore omit references that would allow them to be identified. Typescripts should be prefaced by a separate cover page giving the title of the article, the author's name, address, telephone number, email address, and academic institution. Authors should also include on a separate sheet a short, one paragraph, abstract.
2. Papers should normally not exceed 9000 words in length, although longer papers may be considered in some cases.
3. Contributors should submit three, clear, error-free manuscripts in the style suggested by the MLA Style Sheet or of a recent issue of the journal. *Please note that all footnotes/endnotes should be formatted as footnotes. Each paper should also include references.
4. An electronic copy of the paper should accompany the hard copies. Electronic copies should be saved in .doc format.
5. For information about gender inclusive language, consult Virginia L. Warren's "Guidelines for the Nonsexist Use of Language" in APA proceedings 59 (1986): 471-484.
6. Whenever possible, Auslegung furnishes copies of the referee's comments to contributors.
7. Submissions will be accepted on a rolling basis.

Guidelines for Book Reviews

1. In each book review, the reviewer should defend a thesis. The reviewer's thesis should advance an interpretative critique of the book under review. Also, the reviewer should state the thesis of the book under review. The reviewer should give the argument(s) of the book, and in discussing the argument(s), critically evaluate the argument(s).
2. The reviewer should treat the review as a compressed interpretation of a given book. The reviewer's sentences should be succinct and grammatically well-formed. The reviewer should avoid the use of footnotes and should cite the book under examination within the body of the review. Each review should read more like a thoughtful, well-ordered report and analysis than a critical but tangential essay. The goal of the reviewer is to inform philosophers about a particular text so that philosophers can decide whether the content of the text warrants reading. It is in this advisory role that a good reviewer must cast oneself.
3. All reviews should include the name, institution, mailing address, and e-mail address of the potential reviewer.
