Chimères

A literary review founded in 1967, Chimères has been published continuously since that year by the graduate students of the Department of French and Italian at the University of Kansas. As a graduate journal, Chimères is devoted to the publication of scholarly articles, as well as original creative work in French and Italian written by graduate students.

Papers may deal with any aspect of French or Italian literature, language, or culture. Poems and short stories written in French or Italian will also be considered for publication. The editors welcome the submission of manuscripts from all graduate students of language or literature.

Manuscripts must conform to the MLA Style Sheet. They should be double-spaced and should not exceed 12 pages. Please submit all manuscripts in duplicate, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope if return of the material is desired.

Chimères appears twice during the academic year (Autumn & Spring numbers). The annual subscription rate is $3.75.

The publishers of Chimères gratefully acknowledge the financial support which the journal receives from the Graduate Student Council and the Student Senate of the University of Kansas.
