

PEOPLE

Anne Ingram was awarded an IREX (International Research Exchanges Board) short-term travel grant. She will be going to Ukraine to conduct fieldwork during the month of May. Ingram has also assumed the position of Instructional Technology Advisor at the University of Virginia.

Jeanmarie Rouhier-Willoughby has been granted tenure and promoted to Associate Professor at the University of Kentucky.

Natalie Kononenko was awarded a Teaching and Technology Initiative grant by the University of Virginia for calendar year 2000. She is in the process of compiling a searchable Slavic folklore database which will include images and some sound files. Kononenko's book Ukrainian Minstrels: And the Blind Shall Sing received the best book award of the American Association of Ukrainian Studies.

Please send news of awards, promotions, new jobs to the SEEFA editor.