

Thomas R. Goldsworthy, in recognition and gratitude for his many years of service to the National Association of Learning Laboratory Directors [NALLD] as its first president from 1965 to 1967, as the first Editor of the NALLD journal from 1965-1969, and as the Executive Secretary from 1974 to 1978, is given the distinguished service award of 1979 by the NALLD executive board, his loyal service both as an officer and as a member as well as his many contributions to NALLD, particularly during its early years, are numerous and deeply appreciated by all of its members.

*Joseph H. Sheehan
NALLD President*

*Samuel E. Burggraaf
NALLD Executive Secretary*

Professor Takashi Kuroda [1,L], President of the Language Laboratory Association of Japan [LLA] and Professor Sutesaburo Kohmoto, [2,L] LLA Vice President accept the 1981 NALLD Achievement Award from NALLD Executive Secretary Samuel Burggraaf [2,R] and NALLD President Joseph Sheehan [1,R]. This presentation was made during the FLEAT conference held in Tokyo's Okura Hotel in August 1981.