GEMNET

GEMNET is an international communication exchange that links schools and classrooms in the United States with other countries of the world. Schools are entered on the databank at GEM's office and matched by computer according to select criteria. Partnered schools then exchange relevant student-created educational "lessons." Lessons exchanged may include dialogues, slides of projects, letters, folk tunes, mini-dramas, and "tests."

Videocassettes, audio tapes, electronic mail, and letters are among the methods used to exchange lessons.
