

FROM THE ASSISTANT (ACTING) EDITOR

Karen Landahl
University of Chicago

Welcome to the Membership Directory issue of the IALL Journal. We hope that you will find it useful, and that you will return to it again and again in order to contact IALL colleagues old and new. The great resource of our organization is its members—their knowledge, experience, creativity, and especially their generosity in sharing their expertise. Many thanks go to Robin Lawrason, IALL's longtime Business Manager, who carefully maintained the membership database. Sincere thanks also go to Tom Browne, IALL's current Business Manager, who translated the database into a form suitable to the Macintosh environment. Joseph Toth and I have worked to make the entries consistent and to check up on suspect points. The database was just updated after the IALL conference in June, so there has not been the opportunity to double-check all entries. If you see any errors in the information in your entry or in its formatting, please send me corrections as soon as possible! (Check the Directory for my mail and e-mail addresses.) We will correct the database and forward the information to Tom Browne. Obviously, it is very important that the membership information be as accurate as possible. And please remember to inform Tom Browne (again, check the Directory) of any future changes. Thank you!

In the Directory, voting members of IALL are listed in two presentations—alphabetical by last name and alphabetical within geographical location. Commercial members are listed alphabetically by company name, and library subscribers are listed alphabetically by institution.

We hope that you also find some interesting reading in this issue, including reports from the third biennial conference held this past June at the University of Kansas in Lawrence. The conference information may refresh your memories; allow you to sample facets of the conference you were unable to attend; or, if you were not at the conference, permit you to experience a little of the event. Congratulations to John Huy, who masterminded and realized an excellent conference. We look forward to an equally rich event in 1995 at Notre Dame with Ursula Williams in charge.

- For Entry-level Learners
- Requires Student Response

- Mouse Controlled – No Keyboarding Required
- Over 1200 Words
- Available for both Macintosh and Windows/MPC Systems.

A Natural Learning Environment

The Rosetta Stone replicates the give and take of learning that occurs when we acquire our native language: words become associated with objects and ideas because they are introduced in a context where meaning is clear and reinforcement is immediate.

The Rosetta Stone uses thousands of carefully selected pictures to create its context of meaning. The program elicits the student's response and gives instantaneous feedback, confirming the comprehension that has taken place.

While the program is completely flexible and can be entered at any point, it has been developed as a carefully sequenced, step by step process. As words build to phrases, sentences and dialogues, new vocabulary and syntax are progressively integrated in a systematic, natural flow.
