New IALL Web site

To provide better service to IALL members, we have set up our own web server at <http://iall.net>. For the time being, the old URL will automatically transfer to the new site. If you forget, or feel the need to add www (e.g., www.iall.net), that will work too. Please visit often, and send any feedback or updates to webmaster@iall.net.

FLEAT IV

The 4th International Conference on Foreign Language Education and Technology (FLEAT IV) is a joint conference sponsored by LLA (Language Laboratory Association of Japan) and the IALL (International Association for Learning Laboratories, USA). The conference will be held at Kobe University of Commerce and at Central Facilities of Kobe Academic and Research Town in Japan from July 29th to August 1st in the year 2000. The main theme of FLEAT IV is 'Language Learning and Multimedia: Bridging Humanity and Technology'. The conference, although focusing on issues inherent in the above theme, will provide an international forum not limited only to comprehensive discussions of technology in language learning and teaching, but also covering cognitive processes of language skills, cross-cultural aspects of language learning, first and/or second language acquisition, and related areas. As this conference is the first FLEAT Conference to be held in western Japan, which has close relations with other Asian countries, contributors from those areas will be especially welcomed.

FLEAT IV is currently inviting proposals for papers to be presented in oral and poster sessions. Papers should be presented in either English or Japanese. Presentation time is 30 minutes including 10 minutes of discussion for an oral session and 2 hours for a poster session. Those who wish to present should send one (1) abstract in English (not in Japanese) of about 500 words in length to the following eemail address: fleatsnb@kobeuc.ac.jp. In addition to the abstract, include the following information in the email:

- a) Presenter's name: surname, first name (middle name if any)
- b) Presenter's affiliation
- c) Presenter's status
- d) Presenter's email address
- e) Presenter's postal address
- f) Presenter's telephone and fax numbers
- g) Co-author's name if any
- h) Co-author's affiliation if any
- i) Language to be used in the presentation: English or Japanese
- j) Preferred session: Oral or Poster
- k) Title of the presentation

All the proposals (oral and poster) must be received by Tuesday, November 30th, 1999. Further details of the conference, including registration, plenary addresses, and workshops, etc. will be available at <http://www.hll.kutc.kansai-u.ac.jp:8000/fleat4.html>. IMPORTANT! Abstracts should be sent via email to fleatsnb@kobeuc.ac.jp. Correspondence will be conducted using e-mail unless otherwise specified.

Call for Sites IALL '01 and Beyond

If you are interested in hosting an IALL conference at your institution, please follow the Guidelines below. Your proposal should be no more than ten pages in length.

1) Please answer the following questions:

-Why would you like to host an IALL Conference at your institution?

-Why do you think your institution would be a good location for an IALL Conference?

-What would be the best/desired dates to hold an IALL Conference?

2) Give a general description of your institution, its facilities, lecture halls, computer labs, seminar rooms.

3) Indicate what type of technical support your campus can provide for troubleshooting and setting up computer and audiovisual equipment.

4) Describe your local support for conference planning: conference services, staff, etc.

5) Indicate what type of experience you have had in planning conferences, symposia, colloquia, or meetings elsewhere.

6) Describe lodging options for the conference (please anticipate approximately 500 participants, some with spouses and families).

7) Describe transportation options long-distance (air, rail) and within the city itself (public transportation, taxi service, etc.).

8) Summarize local attractions, daytime, and evening entertainment, restaurants, cafes, and other points of interest which would be attractive to conference participants and their families.

Email your proposal to Chris Higgins at chiggins@deans.umd.edu. ♦
