Expanding the Relevance of the Applied English Center

1. Editor’s Note: On the Expanding Relevance of the Applied English Center
   Marcellino Berardo, Language Specialist, Applied English Center

2. Math and English for Academic Purposes
   Melissa Stamer Peterson, Lecturer, Applied English Center

3. Using Rhetorical Flexibility to Bridge Advanced Reading/Writing/Grammar with English 101
   Jenny Selvidge, Lecturer, Applied English Center

4. On Creating an English for Specific Purposes Course for Pharmacy
   Marcellino Berardo, Language Specialist, Applied English Center

5. A Collaborative Approach to Instructional Development
   Carolyn Heacock, Summer Peixoto, Melissa Stamer Peterson, Baiba Šedriks, and Marina Greene, Lecturers, Applied English Center

ILI is five! Read about the work accomplished over the last five years on page 38.

Marcellino Berardo, Ph.D.
Language Specialist
Editor-In-Chief

Melissa Stamer Peterson, Ph.D.
Lecturer
Senior Editor

Elizabeth Gould, Ed.D.
Language Specialist
Senior Design Editor

Issues in Language Instruction (ILI) is an independent academic journal edited and published at the University of Kansas by faculty at the Applied English Center (AEC). The views and opinions expressed in ILI do not necessarily reflect those of the AEC administration or other unit at the University of Kansas.