ASI AMERICAN STUDIES INTERNATIONAL

Volume 26, 1988

Since 1962, American Studies International has been dedicated to promoting international scholarship on the range of topics which fall under the heading "American Studies": history, literature and language, material culture, folklore, philosophy and religion, and government and politics. 1988 subscription rates are $17.50 for individuals and $21.50 for institutions in the United States and $22.50 for individuals and institutions outside the U.S.

Each 1988 subscription includes two journals and four newsletters. ASI's journal contains bibliographic essays by noted American researchers, thematic essays by foreign scholars, and book reviews. Articles scheduled for 1988 include legal perspectives on the U.S. Constitution, recent immigration, and the personal reminiscences of Merle Curti, Alfred Kazin, John Hope Franklin, Robin Winks, Robert H. Walker, and the late Ralph Gabriel on their experiences teaching abroad. ASI's newsletter provides timely information on international conferences, fellowships, grants, and publications.

In 1988 ASI will publish a supplement to its 1985-86 International Directory of American Studies Specialists. The supplement will provide additions and corrections to the directory's listing of more than 5,000 American Studies scholars around the world.
