

Journal of Dramatic Theory and Criticism

Fall 1998
Volume XIII
Number 1

Contents

ARTICLES

- Performance and Performatives
Graham Ley 5
- Invalid Representation and Despotism in the Theatre
Athenaide Dallet 19
- Between Immigration and Hyphenation: The Problems of Theorizing Asian American Theater
Josephine Lee 45
- Performing Miscegenation: Rescuing The White Slave from the Threat of Interracial Desire
Diana R. Paulin 71
- “Responsibility in Our Own Hands”
Joan Herrington 87

SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT

“Contemporary Issues in Dramaturgy”

Editor: Sharon L. Sullivan

- Rehearsing Dramaturgy: “Time is passing”
Geoff Proehl 103
- The Politics of Dramaturgy
John Lutterbie 113

Feminism and Dramaturgy: Musings on Multiple Meanings Gayle Austin	121
Dramaturgy in Community-Based Theatre Susan Chandler Haedicke	125
Chicanas/Latinas in Performance on the American Stage: Currents Trends & Practices Elizabeth Ramirez	133
Playing with the Borders: Dramaturging Ethnicity in Bosnia Sonja Kuftinec	143

PRAXIS

PRAXIS: An Editorial Statement Kent Neely	157
“The Reason I’ve Been Talking About all of These Dead People: Cultural Resistance in Laurie Anderson’s Nerve Bible Woodrow Hood	161
Saints and Cyborgs: Mystical Performance Spaces (Re) visioned August W. Staub and Michael J. Hussey	177
Iphigénie en Tauride. By Christoph Willibald Gluck. Glimmerglass Opera, Cooperstown, New York. 19 August 1997 Robert Gross	183
LES ENFANTES TERRIBLES. A dance-opera spectacle based on the story by Jean Cocteau. Adapted by Phillip Glass and Susan Marshall. Presented by the Arts Festival of Atlanta. Robert Ferst Center for the Performing Arts, Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, Georgia. 11 September 1997. Steve Earnest	187

BOOK REVIEWS

*Michael Abbott, Thomas Akstens,
James Fisher, Theresa Smalec*

191

BOOKS RECEIVED

203