

Journal of Dramatic Theory and Criticism

Fall 1999
Volume XIV
Number 1

---

Contents

ARTICLES

- Staging Aphasia: Jean-Claude Van Itallie's The Traveller
Gene A. Plunka 3
- The Glass Menagerie* and the Transformation of the Subject
Granger Babcock 17
- Flow: An Interview with Marty Pottenger
Leslie Atkins Durham 37
- "What am I to say while I pour these funeral offerings":
Stage Image, Word and Action in Aeschylus's Libation Scenes
Nurit Yaari 49
- Raging Mothers: Maternal Subjectivity and Desire in the Dance Theater of Martha Graham
Katharine Power 65
- Life to Those Shadows: Kevin Brownlow Talks about a Career in Films
John C. Tibbetts and James M. Welsh 79

NAWPA SUPPLEMENT

- NAWPA: An Editorial Statement
Sharon Sullivan 97

Native Women Playwrights: Transmitters, Healers, Transformers Mimi Gisolfi D'Aponte	99
The Native American Women Playwrights Archive: Adding Voices Rebecca Howard	109
Tribalography: The Power of Native Stories LeAnne Howe	117
Further (Farther): Creating Dialogue To Talk about Native American Plays Diane Glancy	127
Colonial Audiences and Native Women's Theatre: Viewing Spiderwoman Theatre's Winnetou's Snake Oil Show from Wigwam City Ann Haugo	131
Ending Time: Dramatic Conventions in Yvette Nolan's Annie Mae's Element Christy Stanlake	143
What Is Gone and I Could Not Hear It: Using Coatlicue Theatre Company's Seven Wounds on Tlalteuctli to Compare Performance Studies and Theater Methodologies ViBrina Coronado	151
PRAXIS
PRAXIS: An Editorial Statement Kent Neely	157
Frontiers: Environmental History, Ecocriticism and The Kentucky Cycle Theresa J. May	159
Review of Le Cid by Pierre Corneille Loren Ringer	179
BOOK REVIEWS
Rachel Fensham, James Fisher Gene A. Plunka	183
BOOKS RECEIVED	197