

A geologic cross section from north to south along the west end of Kansas, showing relations of different formations to each other and to the water-bearing Tertiary.