Depicted on the front cover is the seal of Germantown, Pennsylvania, founded by Francis Daniel Pastorius in 1683. The seal was designed by Pastorius shortly before 1700. The three-fold cloverleaf with Latin motto denotes the three principal occupations among the citizens of Germantown: viticulture and wine-making, flax-growing, and textile production. The Latin motto reads Vinum Linum et Textrinum (“grapes/wine, flax/linen, and weaving mill/weaving”). Pastorius formulated the same motto in German as Der Wein, der Lein und der Webeschrein.

The Society for German-American Studies has elected to display the Germantown seal on its website, stationery and membership brochure as well as on the cover of the Yearbook of German-American Studies in commemoration of the earliest group settlement of German-speaking immigrants in North American. Our source for the image is Rudolf Cronau, Drei Jahrhunderte deutschen Lebens in Amerika: Ruhmesblätter der Deutschen in den Vereinigten Staaten (Berlin: D. Reimer, 1926), 69.

The Society for German-American Studies was founded for the purpose of encouraging and advancing the scholarly study of the history, language, literature, and culture of the German element in North America. This includes coverage of the immigrants and their descendants from Germany, Austria, Switzerland, and other German-speaking areas of Europe. Members of the Society include representatives from various academic disciplines and others who share a common interest in German-American studies.

The Yearbook is published annually. The editor welcomes contributions in English, preferably, or German on all aspects of German-Americana from members of the Society. The manuscript should be prepared so that it can be read anonymously by the members of the Editorial Board, with the author's name appearing on a separate sheet only. For submission, four copies of the manuscript prepared in accordance with the University of Chicago Press Manual of Style are requested. All manuscripts and correspondence concerning the Yearbook should be addressed to William D. Keel, Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures, 1445 Jayhawk Blvd., University of Kansas, Lawrence, KS 66045-7594. Inquiries regarding book reviews for the Yearbook should be addressed to Lorie A. Vanchena at the same address. The Newsletter appears four times a year. Items for the Newsletter should be submitted to La Vern J. Rippley, Saint Olaf College, Northfield, MN 55057.

The SGAS annual membership dues, which include subscription to the Yearbook and the Newsletter, are $30.00 for regular members. Membership applications to the Society for German-American Studies should be made to J. Gregory Redding, Wabash College, Crawfordsville, IN 47933. The Society for German-American Studies is open to membership from individuals, societies, libraries, and organizations.

The editor is most grateful to our colleague Steven Rowan, University of Missouri at St. Louis, for agreeing to publish his transcription of the German original and his translation of a significant and relatively unknown work by Gottfried Duden—denounced by some as a Lügenhund who led so many of his countrymen to find a new home on the Missouri frontier. As Rowan points out in his introductory essay, Duden’s 1837 critique of Tocqueville’s Democracy in America (1835) goes beyond a criticism of that work to include Duden’s maturing views on the controversial issue of slavery. Following his discussion of Tocqueville as well as Michael Chevalier, Duden responds to the many critics and disappointed immigrants who took up his call to settle in the New World, especially in Missouri. We sincerely hope our readership will find this historical text and Rowan’s essay enlightening and entertaining. Please note that the original pagination is indicated in both the translation and the transcription by numerals in square brackets in the text. Original footnotes are numbered with roman numerals to prevent confusion with the notes of Steven Rowland.

Unfortunately, we are not able to include our “Annual Bibliography of German-Americana” in this issue. Time constraints forced the compilers, Dolores and Giles Hoyt, to postpone publication of the current bibliography until our next regular Yearbook (volume 45, 2010) which should appear in late 2011. We also plan to resume our section of German-American literary reviews edited by Michael Rice of Middle Tennessee University in that issue.

We continue to enjoy the support of Digital Media Services of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Kansas in the preparation of each issue for publication. We are especially grateful for the assistance provided by Gwen Claassen of that office for the 2008 Yearbook and the recent supplemental volume honoring Earl Haag. Since Gwen’s retirement earlier this fall, we have now made a smooth transition to working with Pam LeRow on the Yearbook. We thank Pam for her fine work in completing this volume.

With this issue we also bid farewell to our Editorial Board member Christoph Schweitzer, who has decided to step down from the board after nearly thirty years of service. Chris has been a rigorous and fair evaluator of manuscripts for the Yearbook since the second issue in 1982. Thanks to those board members such as Chris, our Yearbook enjoys a strong scholarly reputation. I cannot thank him and his fellow board members enough. As editor I can truly say that his participation in the review process will be sorely missed. In addition to his service with our Yearbook, Chris is also the 2006 recipient of the SGAS Outstanding Achievement Award for his overall contributions to the field of German-American Studies—an award richly deserved. We wish Chris the very best for his retirement.

Our next Annual Symposium will be held April 14-16, 2011, at the University of Delaware and at the nearby Winterthur Museum, featuring its collections of decorative and fine arts from the Colonial Period to the Civil War. We encourage our members not only to participate in our symposia but also to contribute their essays for consideration in our journal as well as to review recent books in our field. As we approach the sesquicentennial of the American Civil War, we hope that we can publish a number of studies on the contributions and impact of German-Americans during that period of American history.
